(54) Title: AN ALBUM ASSEMBLY

(57) Abstract: The invention relates to a file assembly (100) for keeping personal records. The assembly (100) includes a binder (16), and at least one sleeve (102) and at least one photograph display device (104) received in the binder (16). Each sleeve (102) has opposed operatively front and rear walls (22, 24). The front wall (22) is smaller than the rear wall (24) and has a periphery along part of which it is secured to the rear wall (24), such that the walls (22, 24) define between them a pocket (38), having a peripheral opening (40), for receipt of personal records. Each photograph display device (104) is for displaying at least one photograph. The binder (16) is provided with a securing mechanism (17) by means of which each sleeve (102) and each photograph display device (104) are removably secured in place in the binder (16).
